STUNNING NEW LOOK FROM DAVID GERSTEIN...

In the creation of these complex and sophisticated paper cuts, David has hand-painted three layers of heavy cotton paper before cutting them with an extraordinary level of dexterity, virtuosity and refinement. He has then combined the individual elements to compose a dazzling, multi-layered artistic statement.

WALL SCULPTURES

These spectacular pieces of wall sculpture take several weeks to produce, as the process is both highly skilled and labour intensive. Once David has created his template for the overall design, the requisite number of pieces are die cut from aluminium; although they are therefore identical in shape, each one is hand painted by the artist rendering it original and unique. The intricate construction depends on the perfect placement of these individual hand painted elements in order to build a breathtaking work of art.
