JOHN WATERHOUSE

is acknowledged as an outstanding figure on the British art scene. His ethereal paintings reflect his passion for the beauty he sees in people and places, and over the last 10 years he has become one of our most admired and collectable landscape artists. His paintings explores the relationship between life and the landscape. In this highly atmospheric, ethereal world, distant figures interact with their surroundings in the misty morning light, blending with their beautifully evoked setting.

“ ART GIVES US THE POWER TO EXPRESS OURSELVES AND RELEASE OUR EMOTIONS. ”

“Fields and trees to me have their own character and history, just as a person does. By taking time to study the view that I am about to paint, I’m able to decide the areas that require toning down and the areas that need to be made more vivid in order to emphasise its character.”
