CRAIG ALAN

CRAIG ALAN IS AN ARTIST WITH A UNIQUE AND POWERFUL VISION. HIS FASCINATING ART IS ABOUT MORE THAN FORM, COLOUR, STYLE OR GENRE. IT IS ABOUT THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING A PART OF SOMETHING BIGGER THAN OURSELVES, AND PARTICIPATING IN A WIDER SOCIAL NETWORK.

Alan's public art has frequently made headlines, most recently when he created 'Phoenix Rising' which stands at a monumental six storeys high in his home city of Atlanta, Georgia. His high profile commissions include the album cover of Tom Walker's 'What a Time to Be Alive', a winner at the 2019 Brit awards, and a portrait of actor and activist Emma Watson when she was named the most influential British female role model of the last 60 years. His complex and beautiful artwork has won him acclaim across the US and the UK.
