AWAKENING

“I feel like the world is in need of magic right now so I’ve tried to add a little bit of magic to my work for this collection, I hope it’s visible in every piece.”

This eloquent collection of paintings was inspired by the profound changes that are taking place in our world, and by a sense of connection to the universe, nature and moments of peace and stillness. Mila has chosen to portray her muses in a meditative state, representing the more serene relationship that she felt we forged with nature over spring 2020 when humanity took a step back and the planet drew breath. For the first time, she felt a desire to introduce elements of nature into her paintings. She titled the collection ‘Awakening’ as both a description of the time we are living in, and an expression of optimism, hope that we are waking up to the importance of nature, beauty and contemplation after a long collective sleep. She has also included some magical elements throughout the works, simply she says “because we need it right now.”
